capacity, she focused on building new distribution channels in Asian markets and helped build P&G's international retail and diplomatic relationships. She also served as the Founder and Chief Consultant for The Japan Consulting Group, where she provided consulting services for Fortune 500 clients seeking to grow their businesses internationally. Additionally, she is a founding board member of the Japan America Society of Greater Cincinnati.

In the past 11 years, Ms. Murray was twice elected as a member of Cincinnati City Council. Most recently, she served in roles with the Department of Defense as Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Industrial Policy and the Director of the Office of Small Business. Ms. Murray is also active in the community and on several non-profit boards.

Ms. Drosos has been a member of AFG's Board of Directors since 2013 and has served as a member of AFG's Audit and Corporate Governance Committees. Ms. Drosos plans to resign from the American Financial Group Board of Directors on December 8, 2021.

Ms. Drosos stated, "I have greatly enjoyed my service to AFG and its shareholders, employees, and other stakeholders. American Financial is an excellent company with a very bright future and extraordinarily talented employees from top to bottom. While I will particularly miss working alongside my AFG Board colleagues, I am excited to pursue another board opportunity that may more closely complement my principal role as CEO of Signet Jewelers."

Carl H. Lindner III and S. Craig Lindner, AFG's Co-CEOs, stated: "We are pleased to welcome Amy to our Board of Directors. Her extensive experience in the corporate and governmental arenas will be a valuable addition to our Board. She has proven leadership skills, strong business acumen and is well respected as a problem solver. We believe that her diverse skill set, including government affairs, public relations, financial consulting and community engagement will help to guide our company through numerous opportunities in the years to come."

Messrs. Lindner continued, "We are grateful to Gina for nearly ten years of service to AFG's Board of Directors. Her extensive transformational leadership experience and track record as a strategist and innovator have been immensely valuable to AFG during her tenure on the Board, and we wish her the best in her future endeavors."
